BIG DAY'S ROAD WORK

Nisbet Hill Dynamited and Cut Down

700 MEN WORK ON COUNTY ROADS

Twenty-Nine Miles of Public Highway Worked by Volunteers

Possibly a thousand dollars worth of work was done on Nisbet Hill and Reservoir Hill out of Earlington last Friday when the combined forces of volunteer road workers united in improving the highway between Earlington and Madisonville. It was a great day for Hopkins County. In addition to the work mentioned twenty-five miles of other public roads were worked, leading out of Madisonville to Nebo, 9 miles; Hanson, 7 miles; Pond River, 9 miles. It is estimated that 700 men assisted in the work that day, some 250 of this number taking part in the work between here and the county seat. R. E. Whipper, of this place, county surveyor, who had mapped out the line and grades on the Nisbet Hill proposition, was in charge of the work on this line of road. Charlie Barnett, of Earlington, and W. H. O'Bryan and Frank Cardwell, of Madisonville, were chief pushers of teams, graders, etc., and the operating forces. Jas. R. Rash, president of the Hopkins county Bee-Line Association, and Mayor W. E. Rash and Councilman Henry, of Earlington, were among the prominent figures on the near-by job. A line of air pipe was laid from the St. Bernard Mining Co's central power station to the top of Nisbet Hill, which was used to operate the air drill, and drilling and dynamiting very much facilitated the work in the rock ledges. People from the country came with men and teams and people from the towns turned out in force.

There were many more men than could find places to work, except by taking turns, but this served to let down easy the unfortunate shut-in business man, willing though he was, who would be sore for a month if he wielded a shovel steadily for a day. The business houses of Earlington, Madisonville, Hanson and Nebo closed for the day. Perhaps 100 or more teams were furnished by farmers and liverymen for the day's work.

The work is to continue on all sections of road in the county competing for the Dixie Bee Line. The enthusiasm that has been stirred thru the Bee-Line movement has done a marvelous amount of good and the people are awakening to the importance of good roads as they could not have been in any other manner. Hopkins county is on the line by right of geographical preference and our folks are getting their eyes open to an extent that the inspectors who will shortly come over the line will be impressed with the advisability of coming this way. There is much yet to be done, however, and every man should do his best.

EVERYBODY WORKED THE ROADS FRIDAY

Practically all the Business Houses in Earlington and Madisonville Were Closed

Friday was "Dixie Bee Line Highway Day" and many of the stores of Madisonville, Earlington, Hanson and Nebo were closed in order to give the proprietors and their employees the opportunity of taking their picks and shovels and demonstrating to Flanny and County Road Engineer Earle just how much they know about building good roads.

The work was divided into (4) sections, and the following roads received much needed attention:

Greenville road, under direction of Road Engineer I. B. Earle and Otho Fowler.

Hanson road, under direction of D. W. Williams.

Earlington road, under direction of R. E. Whipper and C. E. Barnett.

Nebo road, under direction of former County Engineer N. E. Stone and G. E. Syper.

The men in charge of each of these roads divided the work into sections and a superintendent had charge of each crew.

Work was started at 6 o'clock, and the entire day was spent on these roads and by night they

SUDDEN DEATH OF HARRY S. COREY

Former Citizen of Earlington Passes at Portland
Texas

BODY HERE FOR BURIAL AT GRAPEVINE CEMETERY

Harry S. Corey died suddenly at Portland, Texas, Saturday morning, the 4th instant, as first announced here through a telegram received shortly before noon of that day. His remains are expected to arrive here this afternoon and the interment will take place tomorrow, Wednesday, after funeral services which will be conducted at Grapevine church at 10:30 o'clock by Rev. Howard J. Brazelton. Mrs. Corey and Mr. and Mrs. Goodman Daves are accompanying the body.

Mr. Corey went to Portland from Earlington in November 1912 on account of his health chiefly, and he and his family have prospered there. Though he had suffered heart trouble and asthma here and there the news of his death came as a shock to his Earlington friends, who understood that he had been in his usual average health. E. J. Phillips received on Sunday a letter written by Mr. Corey a few days before his death, the tenor of which indicated that he was in his usual condition of health.

Harry Corey came to Earlington from New Jersey in the summer of 1885 and began work on the farms of the St. Bernard Coal Co., becoming a few years later the superintendent of that company's farm operations. He married Miss Kate Todd and is survived by his wife and three daughters, Misses Kathleen, Elizabeth and Anna Brooken Corey. Mr. Corey was a man of great energy, an indefatigable worker and a successful farmer, managing satisfactorily and with skill the large agricultural interests entrusted to him by the St. Bernard company. As a friend and neighbor the extent to which he would go was only bounded by the limit of his strength. The regret at his passing is sincere and general in this community.

The body will be at the residence of Geo. O. Atkinson from the time of arrival until the start is made to Grapevine church. The pall bearers will be Dan M. Evans, A. G. Spillman, W. E. Rash, W. L. Phillips, F. B. Arnold and Frank Fox.

Paxtine

A Soluble Antiseptic Powder to be dissolved in water as needed For Douches

In the local treatment of woman's ills, such as leucorrhoea and inflammation, hot douches of Paxtine are very efficacious.
No woman who has ever used Paxtine douches will fail to appreciate the clean and healthy condition Paxtine produces and the prompt relief from soreness and discomfort which follows its use. This is because Paxtine possesses superior cleansing, disinfecting and healing properties.

For ten years the Lydia E.
Pinkham Medicine Co. has recommended Paxtine in their private correspondence with women, which proves its superiority. Women who have been believed say it is "worth its weight in gold." At druggists.

GOVERNMENT AID FOR GOOD ROADS

Ways In Which Department of Agriculture Offers Help.

ADVICE TO COMMUNITIES.

Lecturers Will Be Sent With Lantern Slides to Give Information on Road Improvement; Also the Department of Agriculture Stands Ready to Give Advice and Superintendence.

[Prepared by United States department of agriculture.]

Communities interested in the improvement of roads are recommended by the United States department of agriculture to apply for a lecturer on the subject. Lecturers will be sent at the government's expense wherever there is reason to believe that audiences will be large enough to make the expenditure of time and money worth while. Whenever possible it is, of course, desirable for a number of communities in the same vicinity to make arrangements for lectures at the same time, since in this way the traveling expenses for each stop made by the lecturer are materially reduced.

The number of lecturers at the disposal of the department is limited, and it is not always possible therefore to comply with every request. When a lecturer cannot be sent, however, the department will loan a set of suitable lantern slides to any responsible local association or individual who will pay the express charges. The only requirement is that the slides be made of active and practical use in the community and that they be returned in good condition in ninety days. In addition a brief outline of a lecture to accompany the slides will be forwarded on request.

In addition to this educational work the department is always ready to respond to requests for practical assistance which may take the form of special advice and inspection, superintendence of county roads, road surveys, experimental road work, bridge work or the development of a model system of highways for a county. To obtain such assistance local authorities should secure a blank form from the office of public roads on which to make applications. Requests from corporate villages or cities cannot be met, however.

Bridge work is one branch of road building in which the department may be of particular service to local authorities. Typical designs have been prepared, and copies of these can be furnished on request. A few minor alterations would probably make such a design suitable for special conditions, or an engineer may be assigned to inspect the site and offer suggestions. In some cases designs by bridge companies have been reviewed by the department for the benefit of local officials.

Road materials are also being continually tested by the department and the information thus obtained is available for any community in doubt as to the kind of road they purpose to build.
Similar tests can also be secured on dust layers, such as road oils and tars, and the department will furnish to any one instructions as to selection and shipment of samples. The tests are made free of charge when they are desired in connection with public improvements.

TREES TO SAVE ROADS.

Not Only Beautify but Help to Maintain Highways.

For mileage of good roads Wayne county, Mich., claims first place in the United States. This county lies round Detroit, the automobile city, and modern roads have been built under the stimulus of the motor industry, says the Country Gentleman.

They have been built so fast and in such level country that a movement is now afoot to make them more beautiful. Trees are either lacking or have been trimmed to accommodate wires or have been otherwise abused, allowed to decay and cut down. Wayne county proposes to have more road beauty by planting and taking care of roadside trees and as an object lesson points to the part trees are to play in Uncle Sam's national highways.

The tree hanging over the road is certainly a thing of beauty. And any road engineer will tell you it is something more. He knows that the tree shaded stretches of gravel or water bound macadam highway can be kept in good condition for 25 to 50 per cent less expense than places in the same kind of road exposed to the sun. Shade conserves moisture. The road under a tree never dries out so much as that in the open. So the dust made by traffic is not so easily blown away, and trees do an immense work in keeping the road together.

The low growths of brush that sometimes spring up close to wheel tracks along neglected country roads of dirt may be harmful because they shut off sun and wind during wet weather and prevent drying out mud to a degree that facilitates travel. But big trees with limbs high enough in the air to permit air drainage are always beneficial, even on such a back road, and worth a great deal of money for the road protection they give.

Roadside trees are something more than a background. They are a vital part of the road. When this fact is added to the plea for trees as road beautifiers it adds to the force of a roadside tree movement.
